Additional Backup Information:

This contract is for Kiteworks, a managed file transfer solution that provides a significant improvement in both security and efficiency over the basic Secure File Transfer Protocol services currently offered by Austin Technology Services. Kiteworks helps prevent data leaks, reduce security risks, increase operational efficiency, improve data governance, and reduce unnecessary data storage across the City's systems. The City's current system does not support self-service user management or scheduled secure transfers, resulting in higher risk, manual overhead, and reduced operational efficiency.

This is a new contract. The quantities and amounts were determined by the number of users of the current system requiring access to the software.

The Texas Department of Information Resources is a cooperative purchasing association recognized under Texas procurement statutes. Cooperative associations, themselves or using a lead government, competitively solicit and award contracts that are eligible for use by other qualified state and local governments. Due to their substantial volumes, larger than any one government could achieve independently, cooperative contracts routinely include superior terms, conditions, and pricing. Use of cooperative contracts also results in lower administrative costs and time savings.
